VocaFlex offers a unique concept in AAC devices. 51 overlays can be stored into VocaFlex at once. The overlays have bar-codes that are read by VocaFlex. When a different overlay is placed on the device, the VocaFlex automatically changes the keyboard configuration and vocabulary to match the overlay. The VocaFlex is now available with either 30 minutes or a full hour of recorded speech.

New Features

VocaFlex is now available with either 30 minutes or 1 hour of recording time. These new models also have keyboard filtering so that is easier to make accurate message selections. All messages can now be spoken with a single key activation. In addition to these new features, both models are now available at a lower price!

SmartGuides

VocaFlex comes with 90 overlays with identifying bar codes. The bar codes uniquely identify the specific overlay. VocaFlex also includes nine FingerGuides (3 each of: 4, 8 and 16 locations). FingerGuides are keyguards having an adhesive-backed overlay protector. Overlays can easily be attached to the removable adhesive on the FingerGuides. The combination of a FingerGuide and overlay is called a SmartGuide. The SmartGuide is easily installed by placing it into the recessed area on the VocaFlex. The SmartGuide is held in place by magnets. Information for obtaining additional FingerGuides can be found on reverse side.
